An appeal for 35 volunteers to assist in the 1951 Cancer Crusade here was made today by Edmond Sullivan, local chairman of the American Cancer Society's fund-raising and educational drive.

At the same time, Sullivan announced the goal for the Monterey Peninsula $5000, the same as last year.

HAROLD AND WALTER NIELSEN CELEBRATE 20 YEARS IN BUSINESS

Rounding out 20 years of business in Carmel, Harold and Walter Nielsen, owners of Nielsen Bros. Grocery and Meat Market on Dolores, this week looked back amusedly to their opening on March 19, 1931, at which time Carmel old timers gave them "three months to last."

"We were the only store in the block when we moved in," said Harold Nielsen in reminiscing. "People said we were too far away from town. They asked us what we were doing building way out in the country?"

On Saturday, Nielsen Bros. will celebrate its victory over this handicap with an all-day open house featuring a flower show, coffee and refreshments. "Not just to prove that we really made it," Harold Nielsen laughed. "We hope everyone will come to see the flower show which will be beautiful."

Harold and Walter Nielsen originally came from the San Joaquin Valley in 1923. Both worked for various local businesses until they opened their own store in 1931.

"Fortunately we started at the bottom of the depression," reflected Harold. "And things couldn't get any worse. So naturally they had to get better, and they did."

Who was their first customer? It was Louis Wolter of Carmel Valley, who came early on opening morning with a truckload of vegetables and bought a loaf of bread. At the time, the entire store was located in what is now the meat market and Smorgasbord Shop. Five years later Nielsen Bros. expanded into its present quarters.

"We're thankful to all our friends and customers who've kept us in business these 20 years," continued Nielsen. "Many have been with us from the first day. We hope to be with them for another twenty. At any rate we've traveled all over the country since, and we've never found any place to live and work in like Carmel."

Harold Nielsen's civic work in Carmel includes 10 years on the Carmel School Board, eight as its chairman; he was also Kiwanis president, and president of the Carmel Business Association.

EASTER

Easter, like Christmas, inspires warmness of heart towards one's fellow man. In the laughing eyes of youngsters, in the beauty of the Easter parade, in the solemn thrill of swelling cathedral voices, in the joyous, age-old cry "He is risen!"--in all these the brighter hopes of life are renewed and the cares of earth diminish.

To a world sorely pressed by material problems the reappraisal of spiritual values at this Easter season will do much to give it a better perspective on things and conditions it faces. We forget too often during the hurry and worry of daily living that materiality is not everything and that spiritual forces can do much to brighten the way.

The Prince of Peace whose Resurrection we celebrate each year had little of the world's goods. But He always had what He needed when He needed it, even to the extent of feeding the five thousand with but a few loaves and fishes. Could it not be that this was less of what men call a "miracle" than it was the utilization of the divine law of supply? Surely Christianity has missed a vital point in Christ's teachings if it believes that an All-wise God is indifferent even momentarily to the welfare of any of his children.

Yes, Easter is not merely a time for ceremony and celebration but for the contemplation of those deeper things which gave Christianity the unparalled power and vitality of its early years.

To The Editor:

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

This is to reafirm our belief that taxpayers are entitled to a forty hour work week for forty hours pay on the part of county employees.

Recent news articles indicate that decision on this matter has been postponed because institution of the forty hour work week in the Sherrif's department would require additional personnel.

This is to point out that Tax Council recommendations were to the effect that all of those departments now operating on a thirty eight hour week under forty hour week salary schedules would adopt a forty hour work week in order to give the taxpayer full value for tax funds expended.

Our recommendations did not embrace the Sherrif's department inasmuch as that department is on a forty eight hour work week and the salaries set took cognizance of that fact.

We regard, therefore, a forty hour week for the Sherrif's department as a separate question. A forty hour work week in those departments operating less than forty hours per week can of course be achieve under a six day or a five day plan. Therefore, we fail to see the logic of postponing action which would secure full value for taxpayers in all of those departments operating less than forty hours merely because the Sherrif's department now operates on a forty eight hour work week, particularly in view of the fact that the Sherrif's department apparently has no desire to shorten its work week.

WILLIAM GAIL WHITE BACK FROM KOREA

Wearing his tenth Purple Heart, earned in Korea during the battle of Chang-to, Major William Gail "Bill" White, one of Carmel's well known native sons, was home last week beginning 30 days convalescent leave from Letterman General Hospital.

Prior to receiving the injury which retired him to a hospital in Osaka, Japan, Major Bill White was commanding officer of a combined ROK Special Attack and 1st American Raider battalion engaged in amphibious operations, anti-guerrilla, and regular infantry action. On the 14th of January, his unit of 430 men was standing off the 27th and 28th Regiments of the North Korean 10th Division, numbering between 3000 and 4000 soldiers. "They had us ringed around," he related, "but we managed to stand them off until the 2nd American attack broke through to us." Before the battle ended, however, Bill himself was evacuated under fire by helicopter with a bullet-punctured right lung.

In Carmel, planning to take charge of her husband's charmed life for a few weeks at least, Mrs. White, editor of the Armed Forces SPECTATOR, had this to say: "I hope this ninth Purple Heart cluster is Bill's last. From now on I want him to stay home collecting good conduct medals."

Born and raised in Carmel, Major White is the son of two beloved Carmel old timers, the Reverend and Mrs. Willis White. It was Rev. Mr. White who inaugurated the custom of annual kite festivals.

Bill began his military career soon after leaving high school and a short stint at San Jose College. He jointed the Marines, put in seven years' active duty, including Nicaraguan and China campaigns, before joining the Infantry in 1942.

Between the Normandy beachhead and the Elbe with the 83rd Division, Bill picked up a Purple Heart with eight clusters, a Silver Star with two clusters, a Bronze Star with two also, and a recommendation for the DSC.

When the Korean conflict broke, Bill was S-3 of the 4th Division Specialist School at Fort Ord. He asked to be relieved of his duties to volunteer for combat duty.

Sent directly to Korea, Major White became S-3 in charge of Operations and Training of one of the first groups officially to carry the UN banner. It was a Special Activities Group comprised of an American Army Raider Company--a 100 man company of volunteers from Headquarters and Service Group of GHQ--and a special ROK attack battalion of 300 men formed into companies of 100 men each. All were combat men, all had been wounded at least once, giving to their unit the name "Purple Heart Battalion." Among them were numbered 11 ROK officers who took demotions in rank to non-commissioned status in order to serve with this unit.

Major White's own unit of which he assumed command in December, was the ROK Special Attack and 1st American Raiders Company, of which he says, "I wish we had more units like my own ROK Special Attack unit and the 1st Raiders. They were the best whether in guerrila, amphibious or infantry operation."

In his opinion, what kind of soldiers did the often maligned ROK's make? "The ROK's are just like our own--some good and some not. Those that are good are darned good. I'd like to mention especially the 17th ROK Regiment of which Major Bob Hope, formerly at Fort Ord, is military advisor. I saw Bob personally at Yoju and he's doing a fine job. They were on the 38th parallel when war broke. They couldn't pull back so they fought North and became the first UN forces to go beyond the 38th parallel!"

Bill's favorite personal war story involves his liberation of the North Korean battle flag he captured at Chang-to. "I found it in a desk," he stated, "...a beautiful blue satin flag with heavy gold fringe and Korean symbols in gold letter. I was very proud of it. I showed it to an authority who spoke Korean and explained it to me. I had liberated the Chang-to high school flag."

Major White passed on a few personal impressions on the Korean fighting.

Of the 38th Parallel: "I personally don't want to see them stop at the 38th. If we don't re-cross it after having once gone up there, the Chinese and NK's will win a big moral victory."

Of present field strategy: "General Matthew Ridgeway is doing things as they should have been done all along, by taking his time and cleaning up as he goes along.

Of Chinese Communist soldiers: "The first Chinese who got through were good like the first North Koreans. They were well trained and supplied. Later replacements weren't as well trained, lacked equipment."

Of air support: "Marine and Navy air arms in close support of ground troops can lay it down right in front of you. The army jets, however, are just too fast for it, not accurate enough. Doing a wonderful job are the combat cargo boys on the air drops and rescue work. The helicopters are excellent for taking the wounded out of tight combat places. The L-5 (light observation plane) boys did the same thing at Chosen Reservoir."

Of the scorched earth policy: "Yes, I think it was necessary to level the South Koreans' farm buildings to eliminate hiding places for infiltrating groups. Even a few of them can do a lot of harm if they get in behind you."

Bill and his wife, D'Arcy, better known as "Stormy" to many Carmel people, leave for Alcapulco, Mexico, this week.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S

WHO IS IT?

Our "Who Is It?" this week is Wesley W. Kergan, Carmel attorney whose office boasts one of the few street numbers in Carmel--459 San Carlos.

Although in 1943 Mr. Kergan "retired" to the Peninsula from a large San Francisco law practice, he found himself back in harness again, this time as city attorney for Monterey. From that moment on, he has been active not only in his practice, but in civic capacities in the community. He is secretary of the Carmel Business Association, a member of the Army Advisory Committee for this district, of the Republican Central Committee of Monterey County, and of the Monterey County Tax Council. In this latter capacity, he has advocated the keeping of taxes "as low as is consistent with good government."

Although Mr. Kergan was born in Detroit, Michigan, he has spent most of his life in California, having taken his B.L. degree from the University of California in 1910, and his J.D. in 1912. His was the first class to graduate from Bolt Hall on the Berkeley campus. While an undergraduate there, his interest in writing got him a job on the staff of the Blue and Gold, editorship for one issue of The Pelican and editorship for six months of The Occident. He has been national secretary of Kappa Sigma since 1929.

Active in Masonry, Mr. Kergan has been Master of Sequoia Lodge of Oakland, Inspector from 1921 for 20 years, and Grand Marshal of Grand Lodge of California for 1949-50. Here on the Peninsula he is a charter member of Rotary.

Although business trips take him East twice a year, "returning to Carmel is the nicest part of each trip." Of a recent trip to Washington, Mr. Kergan says, "Everybody there is anxious to meet some V.I.P. who can get him more worthless dollars for less work. I would certainly like to see some Americans elected to office who are Americans first and party members afterward."

GARDEN CLUB SEES PICTURES

The Monterey Peninsula Garden Club held its usual monthly meeting at the Pacific Grove Civic Club House, on Friday evening, March 16. There was a good attendance, and guests and new members were welcomed.

"Plantsmith," a former resident of Carmel, now working with the chemistry department at Stanford University, showed beautiful colored slides of rare and unusual plants which he has growing, and which can be grown successfully on this peninsula. These pictures were very different from any shown heretofore in this locality, and were mostly of the amaryllis and gesneria families.

"EAST LYNNE" SHOWING THREE WEEKEND EVENINGS

In addition to its regular Saturday night showing, "East Lynne" will play tonight, Friday, at California's First Theatre, State Monument, Monterey, and also Sunday night, making three nights in all, March 23, 24, 25. "East Lynne," the classic melodrama of the 60's, followed by a hilarious olio of variety acts, will run on Saturday nights through April 21, its closing date. The show, directed by Rhea Diveley, has been drawing capacity audiences each weekend.

Casting Try-Outs for the next production, "The Working Girl's Wrongs," also to be directed by Rhea Diveley, will be held on Wednesday night, March 28, at 8 o'clock, in the First Theatre, located on Pacific and Scott Streets, Monterey. Anyone interested in trying out is invited to attend. A wide variety of roles offers opportunity for a male lead, a villain, an ex-prize-fighter, a tramp, a murderer, a governor of New York, the warden of Sing Sing, guards, a chaplain, two female leads, a tough gal from Brooklyn, a blind mother, a little girl, newsboys and cigarette girls.

EASTER AT THE HILL

Easter fare at the Hill Theater includes, most fittingly, two films of hope and rebirth. Playing through tomorrow night is the recent semi-documentary from Israel, "Dream No More," which uses non-professiinal actors for the most part but stars Avraham Doryon and Chava Alperstein. In English, the film has been nominated for an Academy award. Accompanying this story of a dream come true is a star-studded operatic comedy in Italian, with English titles — "Mad About Opera," with Tito Schipa, Tito Gobbi, Gino Becchi and Beniamino Gigli.

Starting Sunday with a 2:30 matinee, the Hill will show "Harvest," the great French film of 1939 which has been called "the purest product of the French cinema art." This tale of human salvage first brought Fernandel to the American public. On the same bill is "Holy Year," an expertly achieved documentary on the Vatican.

FOREST THEATER GUILD

Opening April 6th at the Wharf in Monterey in the Forest Theater Guild production of "Light Up The Sky" is Peggy Cease (Mrs. Henry W. Cease) who moved to Carmel with her husband and nine year old son, Nicholas a few months ago.

Peggy was born in Iowa but like all good Iowans was brought up in and around Los Angeles. She and her husband lived in Dallas for some time where she had theatrical experience with the Santa Fe Players, and the Dallas Little Theater. She has appeared in "Both Your Houses," "Death Takes a Holiday," "The Women" and last year played the famous role of Sadie in "Rain." She will play the part of Irene Livingston, a dramatic actress, in the forthcoming "Light Up The Sky."

She and her husband are building an adobe house in the Valley which will be their permanent home.

Other members of the cast include: Don Gunderson, Ruth McElroy, Charles Kilian, Alex Merivale, Dr. Hartley G. Dewey, Bruce Dewey, Bruce Ariss, Betty Fowlston, Jane Prosser, Cole Weston — Director.

"Light Up The Sky" will follow the current smash hit "Cradle Snatchers" now playing at the Wharf Theatre.

ARMIN HANSEN, N.A.

When the Armin Hansen, N.A. exhibit ends at the Artists Guild of American, Inc. Galleries, on March 29, this most complete Peninsula showing of this famed artists oils and etchings will have drawn a record attendance, announced AGA, Inc's., president, Harold Smithson.

Commenting on the splendid reception accorded the Hansen show, Mr. Smithson stated, "Among many fine artists on the Peninsula, Mr. Hansen as a special niche as a creative versitile painter of international recognition and a well beloved artist personally. We are happy to see him so acclaimed by the art lovers of his own home."

Mr. Smithson stated that a most worthwhile series of exhibits are in the offering at the galleries, but that the March 29 date will be the last opportunity for viewing the Hansen show. Galleries at Ocean and Monte Verde are open from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. daily. The public is welcome.

KIP'S FOOD MARKET BOUGHT BY TONY KASTROS AND W. A. SMITH

Announcement that Kip's Food Market on Ocean Avenue and San Carlos Street has changed ownership was made public this week. The new managing owners are Anthony (Tony) Kastros and William Arley Smith, of Carmel, who completed arrangements this week with former owner Louis Poulos. The change will be effective April 1. The store will operate under its same name.

Mr. Kastros is the owner of the Carmel Drive-In Market on 8th and Dolores Streets. He is originally from the San Joaquin Valley and Modesto, having come here three and a half years ago, at which time he entered into his present business.

Mr. Smith, a former Navy man, came to Carmel in 1945 where, except for a short sojourn in the Hawaiian Islands, he has been engaged in building construction since. He plans to leave his former business to devote full time to the new venture.

"We want the old Kip's customers to know we are looking forward to serving them," the partners stated, "and that we will continue to put forth only the highest quality goods, and give them the best service we know how to give."

CASA OPENS NEW COCKTAIL LOUNGE

Featuring the romantic atmosphere of Early California the New Merienda Room, the Peninsula's newest cocktail lounge, will open Saturday at Casa Munras Hotel in Monterey, it was announced today by Jack Dougherty.

Bruce Arris, well known local artist, has executed a series of three delightful murals, depicting the relaxing, pleasant life of California's Days of the Dons, Dougherty said.

Among other features are a new barbecue fireplace in the Early California setting, hot hors d'oeuvres, special drinks and dancing.

"We have designed the New Merienda Room to compliment your charming Senora or Senorita," Dougherty explained, "Candlelight and music, with dancing to the rhythms of Frank Lee, will set the pleasant tempo."

AT LAST -- Street paving is underway in the post office block. Starting Wednesday morning, the city put up its street closing signs and the roadscrapers, loaders and trucks moved in. Fifth Street between Dolores and San Carlos also is being improved. Only rough grading will be done at present, according to William L. Askew, Carmel Superintendent of Streets, since a great deal of sub surface pipe laying for the new post office is still to be done. He stated that the streets should be passable this weekend.
